

Post FileMaker Devcon 2008

“ESS” Session with Richard Carlton

July 16, 2008

Hello everyone! Glad you could make it to my post-Devcon pile of goodies. As promised, we have an MySQL Server running with the “people” table that we played with during the session.

With the information below you can push and pull data. Create new records, add text, then delete records, or practice using SASE to move the data in bulk. So I trust everyone to behave. No offensive or questionable text or materials should be uploaded to the MySQL database. If that happen, we may just shut it down. Regardless, I am planning on shutting this server down at the end of the year, so you have 6 month to play! If you feel there is inappropriate content on the server, please email me directly.

I would ask that you not sent me general ESS questions, since I cannot provide everyone personalized technical support. ☺

I would recommend leveraging the “TechNet” /TechTalk to discuss ESS with other FileMaker developer....or any of the other online forums. If you think for some reason our server is having problems, please email me.

I highly recommend you get a copy of the “External SQL Sources in Depth” PDF that is ONLY available on TechNet. I would be happy to give you a copy, but then FileMaker would yell at me. It has essential material you need for ESS success. We touched on this material in the session.
