FileMaker Devcon 2008

“Super Container” Session with Richard Carlton

July 16, 2008

Hello everyone! Glad you could make it to my post Devcon pile of goodies. As promised we have a SuperContainer Server running with the People table...that we played with during the session.

With the information below you can push and pull SuperContainer data, upload docs, and download docs. So, I am trusting everyone to behave. No offensive or questionable text or materials should be uploaded to Super Container. If that happens, we may just shut it down. Regardless, I am planning on shutting this server down at the end of the year, so you have 6 months to play! If you feel there is inappropriate content on the server, please email me directly to rick@rcconsulting.com. We are not actively looking at this server.

I would ask that you not sent me general SuperContainer questions, since I cannot provide everyone personalized technical support. ☺

You can also contact Jesse Barum at 360Works with your questions. He is a great guy and I cannot speak highly enough of him. If it wasn't for the fact that he runs his own company, I would be more than thrilled to offer him a job with our team in California. ☺

Special Thanks to William Vaughn with RCC for all his help with the presentation.

With this download, you will have a FileMaker example file with a Webviewer that is already programmed to “home-in” on our SuperContainer server. I suggest you change the URL in the Webviewer to something besides “NEWDEMO”...as other people will end up downloading this demo...and will see your documents.
